

Dear Store Manager

It has come to my attention that the Giant Eagle corporation has decided to pay for their employees' abortion services. I know abortion kills an unborn child and I am extremely disturbed that Giant Eagle would not only condone such behavior but pay for it as well! Companies that provide real, non-violent support for the women (and men) in their employ – parental leave, family-friendly policies, & other benefits – are infinitely more deserving of my hard-earned money. Please make sure that your corporate leadership knows, that, until you change your position on this matter, many of us will be spending our grocery dollars elsewhere. We have plenty of other choices in our area who respect and value life.

Very sincerely,

Former loyal customer for _____ years.
